Chapter 1 by Ryan Levisky

Alex decides which server to play on.

Chapter 2 by Sci-Fi Pie

"Hmm," she thought to herself.

"Should I play on Hypixel, the Hive or the Enchanted Isle?" In the end she decided on playing on Hypixel. She joined the arcade lobby and entered a game of Build Battle. The theme was Ice-cream. Alex had fun building a nice ice-cream cone until voting time came.

"There are so many great builds," she thought to herself as she gave every build either a "good" or an "epic". But the last build was something that she did not expect. There was just a sign. Alex flew over to it and read it.

"Alex, I shall meet you in 15 minutes at the end of the parkour in the arcade lobby," it read. She was very surprised. She never even beat the parkour. But as soon as the game ended she was going to go start the parkour, when she realised that she got a Mystery Box. She opened it. She got a chest plate. When her cursor hovered over it, a strange message appeared.

"A little something to help you complete the parkour." Alex was shocked. She put it on and it turned out that she could fly around the lobby. It was a jet pack! As she was flying about, the chat was filling up with messages along the lines of "Hacker!" and "Alex hax!"

Then she got kicked out of the server with the output "You are banned for hacking" She tried to enter again, but it wouldn't let her. She really was banned from her favourite server. Alex felt the urge to cry, but she didn't. There was a message in the chat that said "Who wrote the message in Build Battle?"

Chapter 3 by Sci-Fi Pie

"I don't believe you," said Steve.

"You have to!" insisted Alex. She told her best friend, Steve, all about what happened to her on Hypixel.

"Steve, you are my only friend. I need you to believe me." Steve considered it.

"All right then," began Steve. "What was the gamertag of the player that made the build?" he asked. Alex thought for a moment. She never bothered checking who made the builds, but she understood how important it was now.

"I don't know..." she answered finally. Steve sighed.

"Well while your trying to remember, I'll go kill some cows. I'm getting really hungry."

"That's it!" shouted Alex. "His username was CowMan!"

"Cowman?" repeated Steve. "People get really creative with their names, don't they?"

"So now do you believe me, Steve?" asked Alex.

"Well..." Steve stopped swinging his sword at a cow and felt very ashamed for a moment. "You see, I have no reason not to believe you, Alex. Because I've also been banned from Hypixel before."

"Was is because of Cowman?" inquired Alex.

"No," said Steve. "It was my own fault that I got banned."
